In the event your appointment must be canceled or rescheduled, we will call you directly with new appointment information.

WHAT TO BRING TO YOUR FIRST APPOINTMENT

- All health insurance cards, including separate prescription benefit cards and a referral form (if your insurer needs a written referral). You are responsible for finding out from your insurance carrier if a referral is needed for the services you will receive at Fox Chase. This includes provider visits, laboratory services, radiology studies, and so on. You must also make sure that required referrals are issued in advance of any future visits.

- Depending on your type of insurance, you may be asked to make a co-payment at this time. If you are not sure whether this will be required, call your insurance company’s member services department or contact your Fox Chase nurse navigator.

- State- or government-issued picture ID, such as a driver’s license or passport.

- Your health history, including a list of your doctors, allergies, and any prescription and over-the-counter medications you take (including dosages and how often you take them).

- A copy of your advance directive, if you have one. An advance directive may be created regardless of your life stage or physical health. This legal document, also known as a living will, tells your provider what healthcare you would like provided or withheld in case you are not able to communicate directions as a result of your health status. You should bring a copy of any power of attorney you may have as well as this legal document authorizing another person to make healthcare decisions for you. To access Fox Chase’s advance directive guide, visit FoxChase.org/advancedirective.

- Questions for your doctor.

Before your first visit, if applicable, your nurse navigator may have already worked to obtain your records, but if you have these records already in your possession, please bring the following:

- A copy of your health records
- Lab slides and reports
- X-ray CDs and reports
BE AN ENGAGED PATIENT

Being an engaged patient means having the power and information you need to ask important questions, to expect better, more coordinated care, and, ultimately, to be a partner in improving the way you manage and maintain your health. For more information, please visit FoxChase.org/engaged-patient.

- Clinicians and staff who speak many languages and are credentialed to communicate with patients
- Face-to-face professional medical interpreters, including American Sign Language interpreters
- Video remote interpreters (includes American Sign Language)
- Special telephones (up to 239 languages) to connect you with a professional medical interpreter

  These telephone units are available throughout all areas of our facility, including satellite offices
- Translated vital documents

Please let us know if you have additional needs or concerns regarding language, sensory impairment or cultural needs.
YOUR CARE TEAM

In treating cancer, we take a team approach to your care. Our surgeons, medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, medicine sub-specialists, pathologists, radiologists and nurses work closely to diagnose your cancer. Along with your doctor, our pathologists and radiologists define the type, stage (extent) and other traits of your cancer.

Based on the results, your doctor will talk to you about treatment options and help you choose the best one for you. Depending on your needs, this may include a clinical trial offering a new drug or treatment for your cancer.

Our researchers and doctors work together to bring new discoveries right to patient care. Often, the latest cancer treatments are offered at Fox Chase first, before they are offered in the community.

CLINICAL TRIALS

Clinical trials are research studies that may help to find new and better ways to prevent, screen for, diagnose and treat cancer. For some patients, a clinical trial may be the recommended option for treatment. Fox Chase researchers conduct hundreds of clinical studies at any given time to determine new treatments for both common and rare cancers. Our patients have access to clinical trial options that may not be available elsewhere. Your doctor can help you determine if a clinical trial is right for you. For more information, please call 215-214-1515 or visit FoxChase.org/clinicaltrials.

Services at Fox Chase Cancer Center’s Main Campus operate under one of two hospital licenses: the Fox Chase Cancer Center hospital license and the Temple University Hospital license. Therefore, a single visit to the main campus may result in multiple doctor and hospital bills. Please be assured that you will not be charged twice for the same services. These bills represent your out-of-pocket expenses, such as co-pays, co-insurance and deductibles. For some services, a co-pay may be required at the time of service. Fox Chase and Temple University Hospital accept Visa, MasterCard, and Discover credit cards.

For ease, patients can pay their bills through the myTempleHealth patient portal or in person. If you have any questions or concerns, please call 888-336-5897.

PATIENT TEST RESULT INFORMATION ACT
Act 112, known as the Patient Test Result Information Act, is a Pennsylvania law made effective in 2019. Based on what is required by the law, if Fox Chase patients have an outpatient diagnostic imaging test (CT, MRI, PET, etc.) performed that shows an unanticipated and significant abnormality, patients will either receive that information directly from their healthcare provider (for example, treating clinician) before leaving or will have a letter with that information sent to their address through the U.S. Postal Service. This provides patients with the opportunity to have a discussion with their providers about the results.
PATIENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

As a patient, family member, or guardian of a patient at Fox Chase Cancer Center, we want to inform you of your rights under Pennsylvania state and federal law. We are committed to honoring your rights. You and your family also have certain responsibilities to help us provide the best possible care. A complete copy of patient rights and responsibilities is available upon request.

YOUR RIGHTS

Fox Chase Cancer Center provides medical treatment without regard to race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity/expression, disability, age, ancestry, color, national origin, physical ability, level of education, or who will pay your bill. As our patient, you have the right to safe, considerate, respectful, and dignified care at all times. You will receive services and treatment that are medically suggested and within the hospital’s capacity, its stated mission, and applicable law and regulation.

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO:

Communication

• Visitors with equal visitation privileges, regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, or disability.

• An interpreter, free of charge, if you or your surrogate decision maker do not speak or are not fluent in English or are hearing impaired.

• Have another authorized person, if necessary, act on your behalf and who would assert and protect your patient rights.

• Limit who knows about your being in the hospital and to decide if you want visitors or not while you are here. You also have the right to change your decisions while you are here. The hospital may need to limit or not allow visitors because of your condition or because the presence of a visitor might put in danger the health or safety of another patient or hospital staff or disrupt hospital operations.

• Have access to an individual or agency that is authorized to act on the patient’s behalf.

• Have a family member or representative of your choice and your own physician notified promptly of your admission to the hospital.

Informed Decisions

• Receive information about your current health, treatment, outcomes, recovery, ongoing health care requirements, and future health status in terms that you understand.

• Be informed about proposed treatment options including the risks and benefits, other treatment options, what could happen without treatment, and the outcome(s) of any medical care provided including any unanticipated bad outcomes. You must sign your name before the start of any procedure and/or treatment. This “informed consent” is not required in the case of an emergency.

• Be involved in all aspects of your care and to take part in decisions about your care. This includes your right to be informed of your current health status, diagnosis, and future expectations of your condition.
• Request treatment; however, this right does not mean you can demand treatment or services that are not medically necessary or not appropriate.

• Refuse any treatment, drug, or procedure against the medical advice of a doctor.

• Receive assistance in obtaining consultation with another physician at the patient’s request and own expense.

• Expect the hospital to get your authorization before taking photos, recording, or filming if the purpose is for something other than patient identification, diagnosis, or treatment.

• Decide to take part or not take part in research or clinical trials for your condition that may be suggested by your physician. Your participation in such treatment is voluntary and written consent must be obtained from you or your legal representative before you participate. A decision to not take part in research or clinical trials will not affect your right to receive care.

Advance Directives

• Create advance directives, which are legal papers that allow you to decide now what you want to happen if you are no longer healthy enough to make such decisions. You have the right to have hospital staff comply with these directives.

• Ask about and discuss the ethics of your care, including resolving any conflicts that might arise including, but not limited to, deciding against, withholding, or withdrawing lifesustaining treatment.

Care Planning

• Receive emergency care without unnecessary delay.

• Participate in the care that you receive in the hospital.

• Receive instructions on important follow-up care and to participate in decisions about your plan of care after you are out of the hospital.

• Receive a prompt and safe transfer to the care of others when this hospital is unable to provide treatment or service. You have the right to know why a transfer might be necessary as well as other options for care that exist. The hospital cannot transfer you to the other hospital unless that hospital has agreed to accept you.

Care Delivery

• Receive care in a safe setting free from any form of abuse, harassment, exploitation, and neglect.

• Access protective or advocacy services, if needed.

• Receive considerate, respectful, safe, quality care delivered by competent personnel.

• Know the names of doctors and nurses providing care to you and the names and roles of other healthcare workers and professionals that are caring for you.

• Receive proper evaluation and management of pain.

• Receive good quality care along with high professional standards that are continually maintained and reviewed.
Privacy and Confidentiality

• Personal and informational privacy as required by law.
• Be advised why certain persons are present and to ask visitors or others to leave during sensitive discussions or procedures.
• Receive written notice that explains how your personal health information will be used and shared with other health care professionals involved in your care.
• Review and request copies of your medical record.

Hospital Bills

• Review, obtain, request, and receive a detailed explanation of your hospital charges and bills.
• Receive full information and counseling on ways to help pay for the hospital care that you received.

Complaints, Concerns, and Questions

You have the right to:

• Tell hospital personnel about your concerns, complaints, or dissatisfaction regarding your care without any chance of not receiving care in the future.
• Expect a response to your complaint from the hospital. Complaints may be in writing or made face-to-face. The hospital has an obligation to respond to these complaints. To register your concerns with the hospital, please contact:

Important Information Regarding Your Care
Certain services at Fox Chase Cancer Center's main campus are provided by Temple University Hospital. These services include outpatient infusion and some outpatient visits in our Women's Cancer Center, West Building, and Young Pavilion.
You will be asked if you prefer that your health care be provided in a language other than English. If so, we will arrange for an interpreter for you or other appropriate means to enhance your communication with us.

Le preguntarán si prefiere que se le brinde atención médica en un idioma distinto del inglés. En dicho caso, tomaremos las medidas necesarias para proporcionarle un intérprete u otro medio que resulte adecuado para mejorar nuestra comunicación con usted.

Вас спросят, хотели ли бы вы получать медицинское обслуживание не на английском языке. Если это так, мы пригласим для вас переводчика или найдем другие способы улучшить общение с вами.

我们会问您，是否希望我们以英语之外的其他语言提供医疗服务。如果您回答是，我们会为您安排口译员或其他适当方式，以便强化您与我们的交流。
